

Austria Vineyard Area, by Wine-Growing Region

The wine-growing region Niederösterreich (Lower Austria) by itself accounts for a decided majority of Austria's total vineyard area with more than 60% of the nation's total area under vine. Ranking a distant second, at just over 26%, is the wine-growing region of Burgenland bordering the nation of Hungary. Although a vast geographic area, Bergland (made up of the Kärnten, Oberösterreich, Salzburg, Tirol, Vorarlberg regions) ranks last with less than 1% of Austria's total vineyard area.

*in hectares

Source: Austrian Wine